RESULTS

Mjolnir

Until its destruction by Hela, Mjolnir was one of the most powerful weapons in the MCU. Thor had a special attachment to this magical hammer. Mjolnir can only be picked up by those who were worthy to wield it, meaning that Thor was almost the only person who could use the weapon.

Infinity Gauntlet

Oh well! Who doesn't know this one? Each Infinity Stone has its own unique power but together, they have an unprecedented level of power. The gauntlet allowed Thanos to wipe off half of the universe by channeling through the stones and even using them all at once.

The Shield

Captain America's iconic shield was initially made of steel but was later upgraded with vibranium. It's been protecting him from bullets, beams and most importantly, from Thor's Mjolnir! Most shield would break with the amount of stress it went through. It's vibranium which has been allowing the shield to withstand such impacts!

The Armor

Tony built his hall of armor to tackle almost every possible occasion. He has one to combat, one to defend hulk, one for exploration, one for stealth mission, well, one for everything. Each one has unique capabilities. Iron man also made a team of armor to protect the civilians, which also worked as weapon when he needed backup.

Eye of Agamotto

This legendary tool was used by the Sorcerer Supremes. It is one of the three mystical artifacts made and left behind by the first Sorcerer Supreme Agamotto. Doctor Strange has been the most commonly known holder of the eye. He successfully reached Eternity and then given the Eye to battle Dormammu.

Stormbreaker

After the effortless destruction of Mjolnir by Hela, Thor received this legendary weapon in Infinity War. It was crafted by Thor, Groot, Rocket, and Eitri in the movie. This weapon has an incredible ability to teleport Thor and his friend to other planets as well as protect him from the blast from the Infinity Gauntlet.
